

Who collected the stories?

Name _____

- 1 WHAT DO YOU THINK? If a collector tidied a story up, is it still the same story?

In 1937, children all over Ireland were sent home to collect stories from their own families. Hundreds of thousands of pages came back, and they are still kept today as the Schools' Collection.

- 2 WHAT DO YOU THINK? What might get lost when a spoken tale is made neat for a printed page?
